RW Joinery's heritage lies with the manufacture of selective bespoke joinery for its wide range of clients from multi-national contractors to individual private clients. Since 1967 the business has developed its reputation to manufacture these specially made orders.

Our knowledge of wood and associated products together with complimentary materials such as metals, laminates and glass enable us to produce cutting edge designed reception desks and wall panelling.

We have manufactured and installed bespoke reception desks for clients at health centres, hospitals, leisure centres and offices.

Our traditional joinery skills combined with state-of-the-art CNC machinery (computer numerically controlled) ensure that we can provide a complete service - from manufacture to on-site installation.
